

Dominica Eriksen

The art school has provided me with a supportive, community-oriented, affordable outlet for practicing black and white photography. It's such a shame to see it go.