

Jen Poueymirou

It is a shame when so many programs have been cut in the city that the Educational Alliance with over 100 years commitment to provide art and educational services for the community turns its back on the community. I hope the board will reconsider their decisions.