

Richard Bachmann

NYC will be losing another convenient and affordable art institution that once offered the historical lessons and craftsmanship in the arts it promotes. Without the basics of a darkroom for photography and welding technologies for sculpture, artists will lose the true significance of their crafts.