

Rucsandra Mitrea

I believe that the character of such a building must be preserved, as it inspires students and teachers alike and allows for dreams to become a reality. A building maintains the energy of the creative processes that took place inside it and that energy serves as fuel for the future artists.