

Steven Paris

I loved taking sculpture class at the EA. Part of that was the great light in the studio. Part was the eclectic mix of people who I met, and their contagious enthusiasm. It seems a shame to in any way adversely affect these programs, especially since it's not clear to me why it's being done. The EA has and has always had a great reputation in the community. It looks to me like this can only serve to tarnish that, and that would be unfortunate and sad. Perhaps these plans should be reconsidered.