

Tina Reiter

I have been a student in the art school for many years, taking the collage course, welding, pottery, photography, chinese brush painting, and assemblage. In addition, my father, who was an art teacher himself, took the painting class when he was in his late 80's, and celebrated his 90th birthday there. He often "helped" Walter. And, he was Mimi Gross's art teacher in high school, and a friend of Chaim Gross. The school has been an important part of my life.
